

The logo for Dallas News, featuring the text "dallasnews.com" in a sans-serif font with a blue globe icon for the "o" in "com", and "The Dallas Morning News" in a smaller, serif font below it.A logo for Gene E Phillips, featuring a stylized white "GEP" monogram on a dark grey background, with the name "Gene E Phillips" in a white serif font to the right.

Gene E. Phillips Donates to Medlock Scholarship Fund

DALLAS, TX (October 13, 2014) Dallas real estate entrepreneur and advisor, Gene E. Phillips recently made a match pledge to the Medlock Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The Medlock Memorial Scholarship was created by the Medlock family of Mart, Texas. The Medlock family makes a concerted effort to help financially challenged students stay in school by offering scholarships based on academics and need.

"I'm always happy to donate to educational programs, no matter how large or small" stated Gene Phillips.

Gene Phillips has funded numerous scholarships and awards throughout the years. Most recently, he donated a three year tuition scholarship to a young Albanian student so she could attend school at The Hockaday School in Dallas, TX.

"The Medlock Memorial Scholarship has been successful in awarding $1,000 scholarships for the past seven years. Without supporters like you, this would have been impossible," said Vicki Brown, Scholarship and Hospitality Chairperson.

Gene E. Phillips of Dallas, Texas is the patriarch of one of the Southwest's most prominent and respected families. Not only are they known for their accomplishments in business, but also for their philanthropic commitment to their community. They give generously to both educational and cultural institutions. Gene has been in commercial real estate for more than 40 years and has purchased, managed, developed and sold billions of dollars' worth of real estate during this time. His philosophy is simple: identify and acquire undervalued or under-performing properties, adding capital improvements, aggressive leasing, and management programs in order to achieve long-term, above-market returns, and produce high quality real estate developments that are economically sound.